

WEBB

So what are we saying here? We're saying popular culture helps maintain the status quo. That's what we're saying, isn't it?

BOYKINS

That's one thing we're saying. And we're saying, we want to be a part of it.

WEBB

So we want to be part of the problem.

BOYKINS

No. We want to be part of the popular culture. What we're saying is, we don't care if we're part of the problem, as long as we're part of the popular culture. That's what we're saying.

WEBB

Jesus.

BOYKINS

I know.

WEBB

...Jesus.

BOYKINS

...I know.

WEBB

So what's the answer?

BOYKINS

Seriously?

WEBB

Yeah.

BOYKINS

Try not to think about it.

WEBB

How do we do that?

BOYKINS

We distract ourselves.

WEBB

With what?

BOYKINS

With popular culture. ...After all, that's what all those shiny buttons are there for.

WEBB

So, like a...?

BOYKINS

I don't know. A movie? Or a play, we could see a play.

WEBB

...But a play is—
